My name

The 12 weeks begin on

One thing I want to make easier

Set aside ten minutes before the week begins. Add school deadlines, practices, games, travel and home commitments. Choose one priority. Give it a first step you can actually start.

During the week, update the plan when something changes. At the end, use the review page to decide what to keep and what to change. A missed day does not need a new planner. Turn to the next open space.

Print at actual size on US Letter paper. This planner is designed for handwriting. For personal use by the student who owns this copy. Do not resell or post the full file publicly. Contact gus@thegusexperience.org for group or school use.
